

Final Project Writeup

The three pages of my website are the cover page of Asia, the Japan page (by clicking on the word Japan) and the Singapore page (by clicking on the word Singapore). Three features of my website include the hover effect on the Japan webpage, the image slider on the Singapore page, and the CSS loading animation on the Asia cover page. First, on the Japan webpage, there is a hover effect that gives a short description of the food photo once hover over it. The purpose is to allow the audience to look at the photos and only hovering over the ones that interest them so they can read or learn more about the food in the picture. In addition, there is a small arrow on the very right side of the Singapore page. This allows the audience to slide to view the different images. Finally, the loading animation on the cover page is to add to the decoration of the page. It serves to make the page looks less plain.
